The multidisciplinary team approach management of wounds especially chronic complex wounds are crucial. Infection complicates the management of chronic complex wounds whereby the healing rates are affected and the patients might lose the limbs or lives. Therefore, the infection has to be managed well so that the wounds can progress to normal healing with minimal or no complications.

The local antibiotic stewardship is important. The ASEAN Expert Group Plus Guidelines will be showcased as well as the IDSA guidelines.

The guidelines are there to help us as these management protocols have been studied and developed with proper Evidence Based Medicine reviews. This standardizes the overall holistic care. Dressings especially silver and iodine will be showed as examples.
